

“PAWS to Read!” was the theme for this year’s HCCS Scholastic Book Fair. Our book fair sales were over $2000 with 40% coming back to our school in Scholastic Dollars. This profit is used for Library books, the Scholastic News, and items for classroom curriculum. Thanks to everyone who supported our book fair this year.

We are excited about the most recent purchase made through Scholastic Dollars to add to our classroom curriculum. It is the Dash & Dot computer coding robots that move, light up, make sounds, and interact with each other.

The “All for Books” donation program totaled $505 this year. Prior to the Book Fair, each class competed to bring in the most pennies, nickels, dimes, and quarters, which totaled $487. With this money and donations received throughout the Fair, we purchased new books for our library, including the Nebraska Golden Sower nominees for 2018-2019. Also, Scholastic will donate one book to a needy child for every dollar donated through the “All for Books” program. Our students were excited to learn that 505 needy children will receive a free new book from Scholastic.

The 3rd grade class, pictured below, was the winner of the Coin Competition. They each got to pick out a free book for themselves, and all other students got to pick out a small item from the book fair.

Back row: Isaiah Coufal, Cole Bayer, Maura Cada, McKenzie Sindelar. Front Row: Addison Beeks, Audrey Brabec, Kylie Brichacek, Isabella Wegner, Bella Koliha, Kelsi Corder, and helping to celebrate was special “Paws” guest, Mrs. Recker’s dog SaDee.